

NAVAL REGIMENTAL SYSTEM (NRS)
(Ref: NO 10/23)

Introduction

1. The time-tested traditions of camaraderie and brotherhood in the Armed Forces demand that welfare of our personnel, their families and dependents is taken care of throughout their life span. Even after the departure of our colleagues, their widows and dependents should have the system behind them to guide, help and take care of them.
2. With this objective, the Naval Regimental System (NRS) was established on 29 Dec 10 to provide proactive/ protracted support to widows and NOK. The prime purpose of the NRS is to ensure that Naval personnel, both serving and retired are looked after and live a life of dignity. It also ensures the support of the Naval System to the widows/ dependents after the departure of the ESM.

Organisation

3. The organisational chart for command and control of NRS is placed at Enclosure 1. The organisation will have two distinct levels as follows:-

(a) Apex Level. To formulate policy, plans and monitor implementation of NRS.

(b) Execution Level. To reach out to Naval ESM, each affected family and to implement policies/ directives of NRS, the following organisations exists:-

(i) Command Regimental System Officer (CRSO). Command Regimental Cell headed by Command Regimental System Officer (CRSO) functions from locations as mentioned at Enclosure 1. Considering the vast area of responsibility, ENC has two CRSOs, one functioning from Visakhapatnam and the other at Kolkata under NOIC (WB). Similarly, for North India, two CRSOs are positioned at New Delhi under INS India. These CRSOs function under their respective Vice Chairman to address all issues related to NRS and are responsible for Naval ESM/ families of deceased personnel located in the geographical areas earmarked under their jurisdiction. CRSOs are responsible to co-ordinate with the NoK, the last unit and all other stake holders at Command HQs (viz CMO for Medical Records, CAPO for BOI etc.) to expeditiously process all issues.

(ii) Regimental State Unit (RSU). Major /IN shore establishments have been designated as RSUs and have been tasked to look after a particular state/ states under their jurisdiction. To ensure efficiency, the work load of RSUs has been distributed amongst the various major depot establishments under each Command Headquarters. RSUs, in consonance with CRSO, are responsible to physically reach out to each Naval ESM, widows/ NoK residing in their state. States which do not have any Naval establishment are supported by the nearest RSUs located in the nearest major naval stations. The list of RSUs is placed at Enclosure 2.

(iii) Regimental Coordinating Unit (RCU). Minor Naval/ NCC Units located in various districts function as RCUs and are the first point of contact with the Naval ESM, Widows/ NoK residing in the geographical area under their jurisdiction. The details of RCUs is placed at Enclosure 2.

4. Charter of CRSO/ RSUs/ RCUs. CRSOs, RSUs and RCUs are to function in close co-ordination with each other. The CRSO and his staff are the prime movers and main executors of the NRS. The RSUs augment the efforts of CRSO for undertaking various tasks including administrative support and deputing personnel to visit the families of deceased personnel.

Thrust Areas

5. It is the responsibility of NRS to ensure naval ESM, widows/ NoK receive their financial entitlements at the earliest. Time bound actions are required at all levels to ensure smooth functioning and effectiveness of NRS.

6. Check-off List. Various orders and instructions have been issued in the past to address the welfare of widows/ NoK. To provide a systematic response, a check-off list of actions to be initiated consequent to the death of a pensioner is placed at Enclosure 3. CRSOs/ RSUs are to ensure expeditious actions in accordance with the Check-off list.

7. Database Management. As pensioners/ widows may need to migrate to various places for their personal reasons, updating their personal particulars, family details, addresses is, thus, a continuous process and needs to be undertaken on a regular basis. The CRSOs are the nodal agency to maintain database in respect of widows and pensioners residing in their area of jurisdiction. Building of a database, therefore, is crucial for effective implementation of NRS. Format for the database is placed at Enclosure 4.
